CAMPAIGN TO GO ON HERE

FIGHT ON NO. 4 WON'T STOP SAYS SOMERVILLE.

MORE TALKS PLANNED

Speakers To Be Heard At Myrtle Tree, LaBelle, Barnard, Graham And Other Communities.

Regardless of the controversy over the submission of Proposal No. 4 on the ballot at the November election, the campaign for its defeat will be carried out in this county as planned, it was announced today by Leslie G. Comerville, vice-president of the county organization formed in opposition.

"We hope this manouvering will not result in lessening the vote in this and other rural counties, as, no doubt, many foes of prohibition hope it will," said Mr. Somerville. "We may be sure that those who favor the repeal of the state enforcement act will turn out in force on election day, no matter what discussions are entered into with regard to the constitutionality of the proposal. It behooves us, therefore, to be all the more active and to get out such a vote as will squelch for good a movement which would result in nothing less than anarchy."

Mr. Somerville has announced that Charles McCaffrey, Maryville attorney, would speak tonight at a community meeting at the Myrtle Tree school. Miss Fannie Hope will speak Thursday night at Labelle school, and Judge John M. Dawson will speak at Barnard Friday night.

G. B. Roseberry will speak at 11 o'clock Sunday morning at the Brethern Church, near Sheridan, and D. A. Caldwell will speak at the same hour at the Maple Grove church, near Hopkins. All pastors in the county have been asked to preach against the proposal at their regular services Sunday.

Other speaking date include a meeting at Graham on October 27, at which George Pat Wright, prosecuting attorney, will be the speaker; one at the Morgan school on October 29, with Ellis G. Cook as speaker; and at Gaynor on October 29 with Dr. C. C. James as speaker.

Mr. Somerville is a member of a speakers' committee which will undertake to fill demands for speakers for any community meetings which may be scheduled.

Handwriting Expert Scores Against Aimee

Declares Writing on Grocery Slips Found at Cottage and Notes on Sermon in Same Penmanship.

Los Angeles, Oct. 19.—Milton Carlson, noted handwriting expert, today testified that penciled handwriting on the famous Carmel grocery list found in the Benedict cottage at Carmel was that of Aimee Semple McPherson.

Carlson stated that the handwriting on the grocery slip was identical to that found on Mrs. McPherson's notes on a "Light and Darkness" sermon which the evangelist admitted she wrote herself. The "Light and Darkness" notes were found on the beach when the pastor disappeared last May 18.

Carlson also identified as Ormiston's handwriting the penmanship on a telegram sent from Oakland to Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of Mrs. McPherson, shortly after the evangelist's disappearance. This was the famous "Aimee o. k." telegram signed by "Dr. Marten."

Miss Bernice Morris, secretary to R. A. McKinley, a blind attorney, who was alleged to have negotiated with Mrs. McPherson to find a man and woman to pose as her kidnappers, today emphatically stated that her statements to the district attorney's office were not made under duress. Yesterday, the defense attorneys declared the young woman had been taken to the district attorney's office and told that it was necessary for her to make certain statements.

Burlington Junction Fighter Is Arrested

Vervil McAtee, about 25 years old, was arrested at Burlington Junction last night by Van Reavis, deputy sheriff, and brought to Maryville and placed in the county jail. McAtee, the officer said, was drunk and started a fight in the Maple hotel with F. S. Patton, proprietor.

Senator Williams will meet his friends at that place from 10 o'clock until noon and then will be entertained at a luncheon to be given at that hotel by members of the county central committee.

FOR CARE OF INSANE $5,096

COUNTY MUST PAY THIS MUCH FOR SIX MONTHS.

PATIENTS THERE LONG

Of 53 Nodaway Countians Being Treated, Three Have Been at St. Joseph More Than 35 Years.

Nodaway County owes $5,096.05 to State Hospital No. 2 for the support of this county's patients there for the past six months, according to the semi-annual statement from the hospital to the county court.

During the six months ending October 1, Nodaway county had fifty-three patients at Hospital No. 2, located in St. Joseph. Twenty-five were men and twenty-eight women. This number does not include private patients.

One of the Nodaway county patients was admitted to the hospital in 1886. Another has been there since 1889, another since 1891 and others nearly as long.

The county is required to pay $108 every six months for each patient, in addition to whatever amounts are spent for clothing and incidentals. This is in addition to amounts paid for support of patients at the state tuberculosis sanitorium at Mount Vernon and the Missouri Colony for the Feeble Minded and Epileptic at Marshall. It is quite apart from the maintenance of the county infirmary and amounts paid for support of needy persons in their own homes.

Food Costs Increase 1¾ Per Cent in Sept.

Prices Again On Upgrade—Decrease of One-Third of One Per Cent During Year.—Egg Hike Big.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The retail cost of food is again on the upgrade. September prices were 1¾ per cent higher than in August, but there was a decrease of nearly one-third of 1 per cent since September, 1925, the department of labor announced today. Food prices have increased more than 54½ per cent since September, 1913.

Eggs topped the list of food articles that increased in price during September, the increase amounting to 15 per cent. Potatoes increased 8 per cent during the month. The average cost of food increased 4 per cent in Kansas City and St. Louis.

BLAMES ILLS UPON TARIFF

MRS. FARLEY TERMS "PROSPERITY" A MYTH.

SHOULD AID FARMERS

If War Debts Are Cancelled Federal Land Banks Should Wipe Off Mortgages, She Believes.

Federal land banks should cancel mortgages owed by the farmers of the Middle West if foreign war debts to America are cancelled by this government, Mrs. Florence G. Farley, Democratic national committeewoman from Kansas, said in her address in the Circuit Court room here last night.

Mrs. C. P. Fryer, vice-chairman of the Nodaway County Democratic committee, introduced Mrs. Farley after having been introduced by Charles F. McCaffrey, county chairman. A fair-sized crowd was present.

Mrs. Farley attacked the workings of the Fordney-McCumber tariff bill, giving many examples of the manner in which it has functioned, and decried any existing prosperity in this section of the country.

She said in part:

"All financial, commercial, and trade development serve but to expose the unsoundness of the Republican post-war economic policies and in a like manner they serve to confirm the wisdom and the timliness of the Democratic Reconstruction policies, embracing moderate revenue tariffs, general removal of economic barriers, international credit, finance and trade co-operation—and covering it all, a stable domestic prosperity.

"I have my own idea that the prosperity of our country depends almost entirely upon the farmer. If the farmer is prosperous and happy you will generally find that the rest of us are getting along pretty well, too.

"Is the farmer prosperous now? He may be in Missouri but they are very far from being happy and prosperous in Kansas. During the past six years the farmers' dollar has decreased in purchasing power from $1.12 to 60 cents. The reason being that practically every other basic industry has fallen under the mantle of Republican tariff while the farmers' problems have been let alone.

"The foreign relation policy might well be called a national issue and especially that part pertaining to the settlement of the national debts. Why should we speak of letting the foreign countries settle their debts at about 40 cents on the dollar when the farmers of our own country must pay their debts or lose their farms? Is it right that we should consider for one minute collecting anything less than 100 cents on the dollar from those foreign countries which pay their kings and dukes high salaries? It is not economy to consider that when here in our country banks foreclose on the farm lands if the debts are not paid.

"Take the case of northern Nebraska as it was not so many months ago when irrigation facilities were shut off making the farms sterile and causing the farmers to lose money. It was then that the foreclosures were brought and all that the farmers could do was hang the Secretary of the Interior in effigy."

Mrs. Farley went to Kansas City today where she will deliver two addresses this week.

Coolidge Is Not for Lower Tariff Rates

Difference In Standards Of Living In America And Europe Make Reduction Impractical, He Believes.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The proposal of prominent financial interests for a reduction of the tariff to stimulate foreign trade is frowned upon by President Coolidge.

The difference in the standard of living between this country and those of Europe makes such a plan impractical, the White House spokesman said.

International bankers and importers naturally would want a lower tariff, it was said officially. Manufacturers and wage earners, on the other hand, want protection, it was pointed out in the President's behalf.

Out of five billion dollars in imports, only $1,500,000,000 is collected under the present customs law, President Coolidge has been informed.

ASKS FOR ROAD BIDS

WILL IMPROVE ROAD BETWEEN MARYVILLE-RAVENWOOD.

BUILD TWO BRIDGES

Chief Engineer Of Highway Department Now Advertising For Sealed Bids For Road Contracts.

B. H. Piepmeier, chief engineer for the Missouri State Highway Department, at Jefferson City, is now advertising for bids for the contract on work to be done on State Highway No. 18 between Maryville and Ravenwood.

The bids are to be received at Jefferson City November 4, the contracts to call for grading, constructing culverts and two bridges, together with incidental work on the state road from Maryville to Ravenwood, the total length of the two projects being 7.377 miles. Multiple or combination bids will be received and considered on Route 18, Sections 13 and 14 in Nodaway County.

A number of right-of-way deeds for the necessary land have been procured and condemnation proceedings will be taken to secure the remainder. The survey for the road has already been completed.

The right-of-way will be sixty feet in width, thirty feet on each side of the center line of the highway. It was hoped here in Maryville that the contract would have been awarded early this month in order that work could be started this fall but with the opening of bids not to be before November 14 it is not known here when the improvements will be started.

Mr. Piepmeier has announced that plans and specifications for the work can be seen either in St. Joseph or at Jefferson City.

Hold But Little Hope For Debs' Recovery

Aged Socialist Leader Suffering From Nervous Breakdown—In Sanitarium Near Chicago.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The life of Eugene V. Debs, for a quarter of a century the standard bearer of the American Socialist party, held by the slenderest of threads this afternoon.

The aged politician, stricken by a nervous breakdown at the Lindlahr sanitarium at Elmhurst, near here, failed rapidly during the day and at 2 o'clock attending physicians admitted they were expecting his death momentarily.

Cotton Farmers Are Thankful for Luck

Sikeston, Mo., Oct. 19.—Scott county cotton farmers are now thanking their "lucky stars" for the disastrous hail storm of last July. It cut the cotton plants down and since it was too late to replant the fields with cotton, corn and cow beans were sown. These crops have now matured. The corn and beans are bringing good prices while cotton is the proverbial "drug" on the market.

Kelso and McKnight To Speak at Elmo

INTO INDIANA CONTEST NEXT

REED CALLS WITNESSES FROM HOOSIER STATE.

SPOTLIGHT ON MAGILL

Charges That Independent Republican Candidate In Illinois Has $400,000 Fund To Be Investigated.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—The Senate slush fund committee will investigate the Indiana Senatorial campaign, it was announced here today by Senator James A. Reed, chairman. The hearings will be held in Chicago and witnesses will be summoned from Indiana.

The first subpoenas issued by Reed were for Clyde Walb, chairman of the Republican state committee of Indiana, and Earl Peters, chairman of the Democratic state committee, and also for a number of former officials of the Ku Klux Klan in Indiana whose names were temporarily withheld.

The inquiry into the Indiana situation was prompted by the charges of Thomas H. Adams, Vincennes publisher, who said that Klan leaders wielded a czar-like influence on politics in the Hoosier state.

Subpoenas were issued immediately and the witnesses were ordered to be here tomorrow.

Senator Reed declared the Indiana probe would be confined only to the Senatorial primary and the present campaign. He said no attempt would be made to pry into other Indiana activities.

Chicago, Oct. 19.—Facing a cry of slush from a new quarter, Senator James A. Reed of Missouri today turned his one-man Senatorial inquiry into an investigation of Anti-Saloon League charges that Hugh S. Magill, independent Republican candidate, commands a $400,000 campaign fund for use in the present three-cornered Illinois Senatorial race.

Summoning Magill and the Rev. Robert O'Brien, Presbyterian minister and Magee worker, as witnesses, Reed was determined to learn whether the independent planned to evade the federal law which limits Senatorial campaign funds to $10,000 in an election. It was O'Brien who revealed the fund and told of plans to spend it "through loopholes in the corrupt practices act," according to the sworn testimony of F. Scott McBride and George B. Safford, general and state superintendents of the Anti-Saloon League.

Rumors were circulated that Magill would denounce the fund as ridiculous and that he would also deny ever having made such confessions to Anti-Saloon League leaders. If this occurs, it is probably that Reed will send the testimony to the Senate for the latter body to take formal action against one or the other of the witnesses.

Reed, meanwhile, was prepared to direct a new inquiry into the activities of the Association Against the Prohibition Amendment and other wet organizations in the recent Illinois primary. He announced he would recall Capt. William H. Stayton, head of the organization, to learn what the association is doing in Illinois upon behalf of George E. Brennan, Democratic nominee, who is running for the Senate on a dripping wet platform.

Ferguson Is Charged With Road Bid Graft

Contractor Alleges Former Governor Was To Receive 10 Per Cent of Amount of Bid On Project.

Austin, Tex., Oct. 19.—Charges that James E. Ferguson, former governor of Texas, invited a "bid" on a $75,000 road contract for a payment of 10 per cent of the amount were under investigation here today by a special committee of the state legislature.

The committee is conducting an inquiry into the conduct of various state departments under the administration of Governor Miriam Ferguson.

J. D. Winder, contractor, who was called as a witness before the committee, charged that Ferguson asked him to bid on a road building project to cost $75,000. Ferguson was to receive 10 per cent of this amount in bills of small denominations, Winder said.

BENEFITS OF DRAINAGE SET

ANDREW-NODAWAY OBJECTIONS ARE DISPOSED OF.

AGREEMENTS IN SOME

Mrs. Julia Fisher and Nephew, After Trial, Get Reduction of Half.—Divorce Suit Filed.

Objections to the report of the commissioners named to assess damages in the proposed extension of boundaries of the Andrew-Nodaway drainage district were cleared away in Circuit Court today.

Most of today was taken up with a hearing of the objections of Mrs. Julia Fisher and her nephew, Fisher Potts. Mrs. Fisher testified that they owned 400 acres of land, 25 of which the commissioners proposed to assess as receiving benefits of $50 an acre by the straightening of the Platte river. Mrs. Fisher and her nephew Denied that the location of the ditch was such that her land had not been benefitted, and that the part of it which had been assessed benefits of $50 an acre was in fact, not worth more than $25 an acre.

Judge John M. Dawson held that the land had been benefitted to some extent but not $50 an acre. He cut the assessment in two, making it $25 an acre, or $625.

Several cases were settled, assessments were confirmed by agreement and costs were divided. The assessments confirmed by agreement were:

Luella Cardon, $300.
Edward Allen, $500.
Wayne Davidson, $600.
James F. McManus, $825.
John Holtman, $87.50.
Andrew VanFosson, $800.

Alice Farnan, $600 on the west half of the southwest quarter of the southeast quarter of section 28, township 63, range 34; $500 on 36 acres off the south side of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of the same section; and $500 on the north half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter of section 33.

The court also confirmed an assessment of $33.33 against John C. Maher and $500 against Mary O'Malley.

An application for receivership, asked by the Farmers Trust Co. in an action brought against Joseph L. Skidmore and others, was denied. The order then was set aside and the application was withdrawn by the petitioner. To this action the defendants filed exceptions.

A divorce suit was filed today by Mrs. Alice Hovey against George B. Hovey.

A replevin suit filed by Mrs. Jessie L. Bradley against Allie R. Bradley asks the return of certain household goods to the value of $200 of which she claims ownership and which she states have been "wrongfully taken" by the defendant and still "unjustly detained." In addition to return of the property she asks damages of $25.

In the suit of the Bank of Hopkins against Ethel Warren was settled and dismissed, the plaintiff withdrawing the note sued on and damages on the attachment bond being waived.

The petit jury is called again for tomorrow.

J. H. Argo, constable of Green township, today submitted his resignation to the County Court. The court will name a successor at its next meeting.

MARIE HONORS SOLDIER DEAD

RUMANIAN QUEEN HAS BUSY DAY AT WASHINGTON.

ENJOYS U. S. WELCOME

Will Learn for Herself If America Is Land of Millionaire Cowboys and Indians.

Washington, Oct. 19.—A democrat among democrats, paradoxically wearing the crown of royalty, stirred Washington today as it not has been stirred in more than two years.

Marie, queen of Rumania, bob-haired and vivacious, comes to America to ascertain for herself whether millionaire cowboys and Indians really gallop over gold-paved streets against a skyline of towering buildings resembling a fine-toothed comb.

Today, this striking guest of the government honored America's war dead at the tomb of the unknown soldier and inspected and lunched at Mt. Vernon, home of George Washington. This afternoon she exchanges calls with President and Mrs. Coolidge and tonight she and her son and daughter, Prince Nicholas and Princess Ileana, dine at the White House.

Wherever she went, thousands of residents of the national capital, ordinarily indifferent to visiting royalty, craned their necks for a fleeting glimpse. For the people of America are interested in this enterprising Balkan ruler. Early this morning, the queen and her entourage set out for the national cemetery at Arlington, their first move in a very crowded day.

That she heartily enjoyed the plaudits of the well-known populace was evident from the start. Every gesture of welcome was returned. Marie, very frankly was on a sight-seeing tour, and took to it hugely.

From Arlington, the official party motored to Mt. Vernon for lunch. A brief rest was scheduled at the Rumanian legation in the early afternoon prior to the official call at the White House at 4 o'clock, the call to be returned by the chief executive a half-hour later.

The big event of the thirty-six hours to be spent in Washington comes at o'clock tonight when in the state dining room of the White House, surrounded by all the pomp and gold braat the command of the American government, the queen and her suite sias royal guests at a state dinner.

FOURTEEN-YEAR-OLD FILMS.

The best European films are said, by critics, to be better than the best American films. But the general run of our films is incomparably better than the general run of foreign films. This accounts for the popularity of American movies all over the world, and renders rather hopeless the efforts now being made by European producers to wean their public away from the American films.

Why have our films this world-wide appeal? For two reasons, it is explained. First, the typical American product is far superior technically to the typical foreign product. More money is spent on it, better machinery and scenery are used, technical tricks are played more skillfully, the commonplace is brightened up. Second, as an American editor frankly explains, the average movie patron ,the world over is mentally about 14 years old and that is the age to which our American producers adapt their entertainment.

Those few foreign films rated as better than our best are, needless to say, aimed at mentalities of more than 14 years. Granting that it is good business to play for the patronage of the adolescents and the older folk who never grow up, couldn't there be a few more film dramas in this country adapted to mature minds?

GOVERNMENT BY DEFAULT.

One of the excuses sometimes made by men, oftener by women, for not voting, is that they really did not know anything about any of the candidates, or the issues, and so they felt that they could not conscientiously cast a ballot.

This is no excuse at all. It is the voter's business to inform himself about men and issues.

If he does not approve any of the candidates, no matter. One will be elected. One must be better than another in at least some small way. Every expression of public opinion counts. If the voter votes for only one man, only one issue, at an election, he is expressing something of his own, adding to public opinion.

The only thing candidates are afraid of is voters. The only way to get good candidates is for good voters to keep on voting for the best in sight.

The real boss of the town is the ordinary voter, with his ordinary vote. If he wants a clean orderly community in which to live and rear his children, he can get it by voting for it. If he does not exercise his right to speak on the side of order and decency, he has to take what he gets.

Beating swords into plowshares is nothing compared with the feat of a musician in Portland, Ore., who has turned a beer keg into a fiddle to furnish music for old-fashioned dances.

What Other Editors Say

SHALL WE RETARD INDUSTRY.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, is coming to Kansas City to speak in behalf of the workmen's compensation act, which will be submitted to the voters by referendum (proposal No. 1) in the general election. Mr. Green, who has read the act, and believes it is fair both to labor and to capital, is coming to Kansas City at the request of R. T. Wood, president of the Missouri Federation of Labor, who has also read the act and who also believes it is fair to both parties. Mr. Green also will speak in St. Louis in behalf of the act.

The compensation act is satisfactory to the officers and the mass membership of the Missouri Federation of Labor, and to the officers of the American Federation. Only a little group of labor agitators and a group of damage suit lawyers are opposed to it. Is Missouri to reject the act and retard the development of industry within the state merely to satisfy two relatively small groups, one motivated not so much by self interest as by the illusions of an extreme viewpoint, the other, the damage suit lawyers, moved by self interest pure and unadulterated?

Missouri will do just that unless the voters who recognize the fairness of the law, and see the need of such an act, vote their approval in the general election. Industry does not flourish in states where the compensation for accidents must be determined by law suits. The fairest way to determine such compensation, from the viewpoint of the workingman as well as the viewpoint of the manufacturer, is to have a just workmen's compensation. In this state a fair compensation law has been enacted. The electorate will retard the development of industry needlessly if they vote disapproval of the act.—Kansas City Post.

Another thing we cannot understand is why one legislature after another fails to provide for uniform textbooks in Missouri. Is this due to lack of interest in educational matters or to influence exerted by the textbook trust?—Paris Appeal.

Stewart's WASHINGTON LETTER

By CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer.

Washington—Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the veteran pure food man, is not going to have the public's edibles adulterated if I can help it.

He did help it once, away back in the early 80's, when, as chief chemist for the Department of Agriculture, he raised such a commotion over food adulterants that the country was almost afraid to eat anything, and the present pure food laws were passed in hot haste, to prevent wholesale starvation.

He kept up the good work for 29 years, still as chief chemist for the Department of Agriculture, enforcing those laws.

Now, as the private citizen, he is trying to keep his beloved laws from being modified.

The trouble with the public, as Dr. Wiley sees it, is that it's had pure food for so long as to take it as a foregone conclusion, never realizing that it takes laws to keep it pure.

And the doctor foresees an attempt at the next session of Congress to slip through legislation which will weaken his laws. The public, he says, isn't awake to the danger.

"The great danger," says Director Campbell, "is that public apathy and a feeling of assurance in the continuing wholesomeness of our foodstuffs may permit interested manufacturers and packers to render the whole structure of pure food enforcement weak and ineffective."

Honor System Hotel Loses $3 in Year

"Mercantile Hotel: Rates $1.00 per person; $2.00, two persons. Pay here. Place money in envelope, write your name and number of room occupied and deposit envelope in lock box. Signed H. L. Brooks, Manager."

The hotel is owned and operated by Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Brooks. In addition Brooks is sheriff which may account for the fact he lost only three dollars last year in his "Piggly Wiggly" hostelry. Brooks contends his non-paying guests were the town drunks who stole in to sleep off a jag and left the next morning before he arrived to tend the furnace.

Mrs. Brooks arrives at the hotel at nine in the morning with two Mexican maids to open the lock box and supervise cleaning.

There is not a key in the house and no guest has ever missed anything from his room.

Tragedy of Pioneer Days Show in Grave

Three Bodies Found On Iowa Farm Dug Up By Many Hunting For Indian Relics.

Mondamin, Ia., Oct. 19.—A tragedy of 60 years ago has been unearthed by archaeologists, who searching for Indian relics, dug into a grave near here and found in it the bones of a white woman 28 years old, a white man 35 years old and a man 20 years old, all in such condition as to indicate that they had been the victims of foul play.

The grave was discovered by A. J. Burchman, owner of the farm, when he was preparing to bury a horse. Believing he had a historic find, he delayed complete exploration until the archaeologists could be present.

Dr. Robert F. Gilder, Omaha, foremost archaeologist in this vicinity, said the persons whose remains had been found probably had been killed during the Missouri river steamboating days.

W. L. Barnes of St. Joseph spent Sunday and Monday in Maryville with his nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. George Eisenman.

Communication

JOB EXPLAINS ROAD SITUATION.

Editor Democrat-Forum:

Sometime ago I read a communication in this paper asking the question, "Why has a connecting road between No. 47, in Worth County, and No. 18, in Nodaway County, never been designated? Can Senator Ford or Representative Job answer?"

The time set for the designation of the State Highway was at an extra session called for that purpose by Governor Hyde, June 14, 1921. Neither Senator Ford or I was a member of the legislature at that time. We had no more to do with designation of the road system, or the law enacted at that time under which the Highway Department is operating than any other private citizen. At two difference sessions since that time I have introduced a bill to connect up the missing links in the highway system. Each time I received the same answer from the committee on roads: "There is no hurry, the roads that are now designated will be built before another additional mile is added." The prospects for additional mileage at this time is almost beyond expectations, for this reason.

At the close of 1927 the $60,000,000 will be exhausted with but 50 per cent of the present designated routes completed. After that, road construction will slow up as the only available funds will be what is left over after the payments on principal and interest on the bonds each year, also overhead and maintenance, have been deducted. The Department estimates the entire system can be completed by 1934. The last of the bonds will be retired in 1942.

The extra session divided the road system into two classes, Primary and Secondary. The primary road fund to receive 48.8 per cent of all funds available and one-third of federal aid, the secondary roads 51.2 per cent and two-thirds of federal aid. The primary roads will consist of 1500 miles of high type roads and the secondary a cheaper type. The secondary road fund is pro-rated to the counties as stated above.

Nodaway County's proportion up to December 31, 1926, amounts to $550,702. Up to September 1, 1926, there has been contracted for, $371,720, leaving a balance due Nodaway County from this year's apportionment, of $178,982. Our estimated apportion for 1927, which will be the remainder due us on secondary roads from the bonds, etc., will be $91,418, and that with the $178,980, now apportioned would leave us $270,400 to our credit. The contract for the grading of the Ravenwood road will be let soon and by the close of 1927, all of the secondary road funds alloted to us will be under contract. No do not understand me that all of our present designated roads will be under contract. The commission does not promise that before 1934.

Primary roads come under a different head from secondary. Pirmary road funds are not apportioned to the counties as secondary, but are apportioned to the various routes in proportion to the estimated cost of the routes. (It costs three times as much to build a mile of road in North Missouri as in the Ozarks). After the primary routes No. 40 and No. 50 between St. Louis and Kansas City have been completed, the remaining funds will be apportioned to the various uncompleted primary routes so that each will receive the same per cent each year until the 1500 miles is completed. (The above statement as applied to No. 40 is almost the exact statement of a member of the Department. As applied to No. 50, it is my own statement based upon facts, No. 40 is a concrete slab, No. 50 concrete and gravel.) And by that time the cost of maintenance will be trebled as the reconstruction of sections will have begun. The fact that St. Louis County and Jackson County have but little secondary road, as most all roads leading into the cities are primary, and that St. Louis City and Kansas City pay a large per cent of the auto license fees, they feel they should have some preference where it should be placed. They are the principal promoters of the campaign for the bond issue with the view of getting the roads they were interested in built first; they have accomplished their purpose.

It is well known that I opposed the bond issue and advocated building the roads on a pay-as-you-go plan and save the interest. I told you that in the bond issue there was a "bug hid under a chip." You can see the bug now, it has crawled out.

The intention of the commission is to grade the road on route No. 71 from the south end of the slab in Nodaway County to Savannah in 1927 if they can possibly finance it. There are things being done in the construction of roads by the Department that many people think the legislature could regulate. The facts are that when the constitutional amendments were passed by a vote of the people, you took the matter out of the hands of the legislature and the Supreme Court has sustained them in every controversy that has arisen, and for the legislature to try to tear up any plans they have at this late date, would only delay the matter with no good results. Those who live on or near an improved state road have all they could expect when they are completed, and those who live from five to twenty miles from a state road and are paying the same tax that the fellow who lives near, cannot help but feel disappointed. There is no use to kick now; it is too late. Our auto tax is mortgaged until 1942 and our gas tax for all time, and the engineers estimated cost of the present designated system when completed, is $187,000,000.

The only hope I see for a system that would give us a north and south road on both the east and west side of the county, and cross roads leading to the pirmary road, would be a county system of improved roads. With our road and bridge fund in the red, and in addition to that it will take at least $100,000 of township and county money to put the roads where they were six weeks ago, a county system is almost out of the question. It looks like we were up against a hard proposition.

Now if you will go back and sum up what I told you over my own signature regarding the matter, you will find it has come true to almost a letter. The 2c gas tax for Nodaway County for 1925 was near $13,000, and for 1926 will be near $15,000.

DRYS TURN TO LEAGUE

PROHIBITION FORCES ASK FOR LIQUOR QUESTION SOLUTION.

HAD BEEN DEFERRED

Last Assembly of League of Nations Postponed Discussion of Subject Until 1927.

Washington, Oct. 19.—The prohibition organizations of the United States are turning to the League of Nations for solution of the liquor question in other countries.

Secretaries of the Methodist Episcopal Board of Temperance, prohibition and public morals, issued a statement supporting a resolution for such activity by the league, which was defered by the last league assembly meeting until the 1927 meeting.

"Besides other international questions the solution of which it has had the power to facilitate, the league of nations with all of the authority at its command could undertake to coordinate action for the future settlement of the alcohol question," according to the Methodist statement.

"There are divergencies of opinion on this subject. Accordingly the question demands examinations. The different governments, the different currents of opinion could unite in this task; one may hope that this work undertaken in the spirit of the League of Nations and on the basis of impartial research, will bear fruits which will prove beneficial to humanity."

Improvements Cost Cities Too Much

Municipalities Spending More Money Than States And Are Sinking In To Debt As Result.

Washington, Oct. 19.—Municipalities of the country are spending more money on operation and improvements than the states and are rapidly sinking into debt in the process.

After studying such expenditures of 247 cities of over 30,000 population, the department of commerce announced that the total outlay of this class for the fiscal year 1925 was $1,525,556,704 or eighty per cent larger than similar expenditures by the 48 states, and only 14 per cent less than comparable federal expenditures.

Net indebtedness for these cities amounted to $1,659.62 increase of 10.2 per cent over the previous year.

The "Wild Roses" entertained the "Pansies" Friday evening. The evening was spent playing tricks and telling jokes. The refreshments served were popcorn, apples and pears. The "Pansies" were the honored ones, because they had won in the health contest this month.

"Electro-Grid", a Local Invention, to Portray Maryville-Springfield Football Game for Fans Here

Although the Bearcats of the State Teachers College will be disporting on foreign footballs fields this week and next, their followers at home will "see" the games.

An "electro-grid," devised by W. L. Mapel, director of information at the College, is nearing completion at the Maryville Electric Light and Power Co. Under present plans, it will be erected on the bandstand in the courthouse lawn, and Friday's crucial game with the Springfield Bears will be portrayed, play by play, as it takes place on the Ozark gridiron.

On a week from Friday, the Bearcats will play Kirksville S. T. C. at Kirksville, and this game also will be played on the "electro-grid." The play-by-play accounts of the games will be published in the Democrat-Forum and Tribune.

The "electro-grid" will be the only one in use anywhere in Missouri except for one of different type at the University of Missouri in Columbia, it is believed. It will be 12 feet long and 9 feet high, with a "playing field" 4 by 8 feet.

The game will be "played" by electric lights. The field will be of a transparent material, marked off to resemble a football gridiron. The ball will be represented by a light manipulated from behind the field. It will move up and down, back and forth, as the ball travels in the actual game.

Above the field will be lights showing the down and the number of yards to be gained. At each side will be the two line-ups, with a light for each player, to be used whenever he figures in the play. Below will be spaces to show a kick, pass, end run, fumble, penalty or any of the other possible happenings. One light will represent the kick-off, another a touchdown.

As the game starts, the kick-off will be indicated. The ball will move down the field to the point where it is received, and a light will show the player who makes the catch. The ball will then start back and continue as far as the runner penetrates, a light in the opposing line-up showing who makes the tackle. A light indicating the team in possession of the ball will remain on as long as the team keeps the ball. When it changes hands, another will be lighted.

As the ball is put in play, the light in front of the center's name will be flashed. If it goes to Captain Eads, for instance, that player's light will flash. If he makes an end run, the light in that space will flash and the ball will follow his course. If it is a pass, that also will be indicated, together with the player on the receiving end.

The system is extremely simple, according to Mr. Mapel, but it will require close co-operation on the part of probably two operators.

The first game is Friday, the place is the courthouse lawn, and the public is invited.

DIVORCE EVIL REAL PROBLEM

CARDINAL HAYES FEARS FOR RESULTS IN AMERICA.

PARENTS TO BLAME

Children Cannot Be Held Solely Responsible For Revolt Tendencies Among Them, He Believes.

Kansas City, Oct. 19.—"Divorce is a great evil—one of the greatest America has to face—and it is battering down the doors of the American homes."

Cardinal Patrick Hayes, archbishop of New York, and one of the foremost figures in the Catholic church in this country, holds this attitude toward one of America's most perplexing social problems.

The Cardinals' views on this subject were revealed here today when he stopped over in Kansas City in his return to New York following a tour of several weeks in the West.

"It is a pity that the divorce evil exists to such a large extent here in America," Cardinal Hayes said. "Whatever tendencies of revolt there may be in the youth of our country, it is largely due to the fact that parents are jumping moral codes because it suits them to do so. What kind of an example is this for our younger people?"

Asked what he considered the remedy for the divorce evil, the Cardinal replied, "individual self restraint."

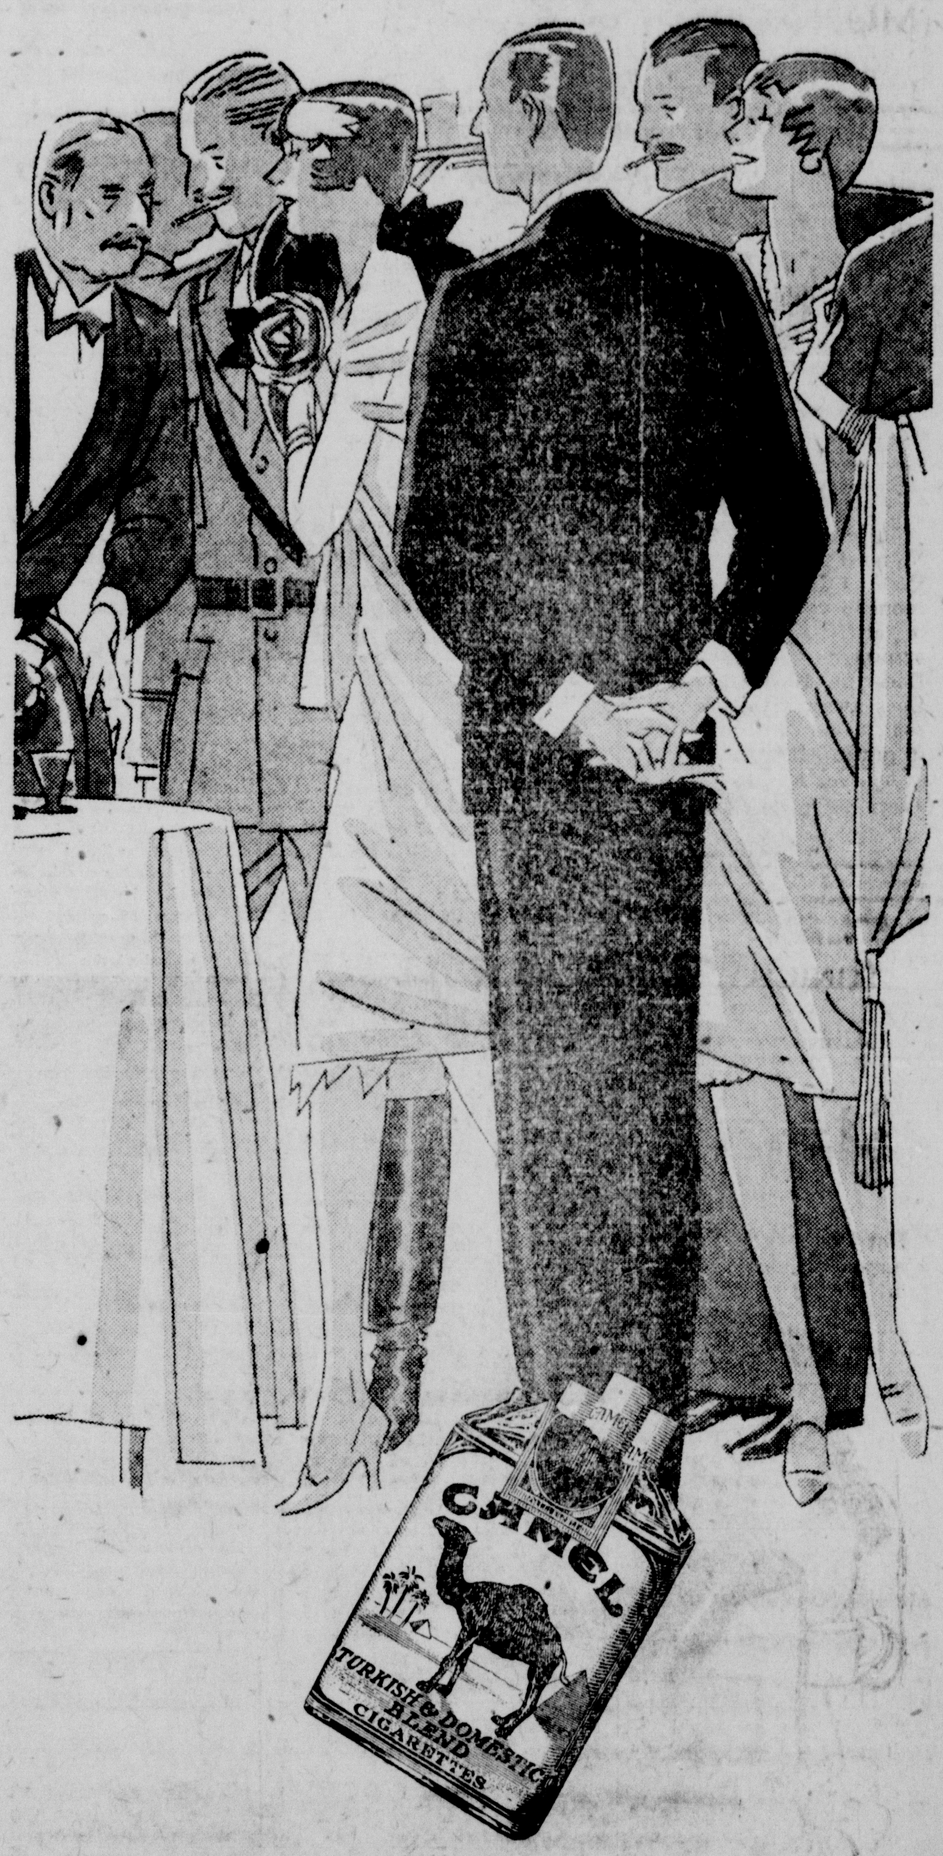
"HAVE A CAMEL" IS MUSIC TO YOUR EARS



Camel is totally different from any other smoke. . . . It is more than a cigarette. . . . A lighted Camel is smoking enjoyment realized—the closest thing to the perfection of taste this old earth ever knew.

Camel's popularity has no equal. Camel demand exceeds any other cigarette preference ever known. To say "Camel" is to ask for the world's most popular cigarette. And to light a Camel is to taste the best.

For there's a solid reason back of the fame and the enjoyment of Camels. Quality. Camels are rolled of the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobaccos money can buy . . . blended for matchless taste and fragrance.

If you would know how mild and mellow a smoke can really be, just treat yourself to a pack of Camels. Once you know what these words mean, they're music . . . "Have a Camel!"

The VANITY CASE

by Carolyn Wells

NEA FICTION

© 1926 by G. P. PUTNAM SONS

BEGIN HERE TODAY.

MRS. PRENTISS sees lights mysteriously appear and disappear in the HEATH household next door one night and the next day Harbor Gardens, Long Island, is agog with the murder of MYRA HEATH and the disappearance of her husband, PERRY.

House guests of the Heaths are LAWRENCE INMAN, heir to Myra's fortune, and BUNNY MOORE, vivacious, golden-haired, to whom suspicion points because of her refusal to answer questions.

Myra Heath was peculiar: She never used cosmetics, never wore colors. She had a mania for collecting glass, and it was a rare old whisky bottle from her collection that the murderer used to kill her. Candles were burning at her head and feet and nearby was a card marked, "The Work of Perry Heath." Strangest of all, she was heavily made up and garbed in gay colors.

The peculiar thing about Heath's disappearance is that all the windows and doors had been locked on the inside the night before and were found that way in the morning. Finger prints of Bunny Moore and Inman were found on the bottle.

At the Country Club the murder is discussed by SAM ANDERSON, Heath's rival for the club presidency; AL CUNNINGHAM, who is trying to solve the crime, and others. Some believe Heath the murderer. Anderson disagrees. TODHUNTER BUCK, nephew of Mrs. Prentiss and in love with Bunny, suggests to Cunningham that Heath also may have been murdered.

EMMA, a waitress in the Heath home, tells of Seeing Bunny ascend the stairs about the time of the murder, carrying her vanity case. Later Bunny is amazed to get a phone call from Perry Heath telling her Inman is guilty. Bunny breaks down and faints under a grilling by DETECTIVE MOTT, who makes up his mind that she is guilty. Inman confides to Buck that he saw Bunny creeping the stairs after the murder, and Mott, questions all the servants and tells them to keep silent.

Cunningham gets a note from Anderson and goes to his house where Perry Heath suddenly appears out of the night and begins to talk.

Anderson invites Cunningham to his house and there, while waiting for his host, Cunningham is suddenly confronted by Perry Heath, who disappears as mysteriously as he had appeared. Shortly afterward, Anderson comes in, and he reproaches Cunningham for letting Heath get away.

Todhunter Buck, puzzling as to the best way to clear Bunny, is sitting in the dark when Bunny slips out of the house of his aunt, where she is now a guest and joins a man at the edge of a wood. Buck doesn't recognize him, but when Bunny leaves, Buck follows the man and recognizes Perry Heath. Heath, gets away and the next day Buck pleads with Bunny to tell him all she knows.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XL

"Such considerations, dear, must be set aside in the cause of law and order."

"H'm. I don't think a lawyer could talk any more priggishly than that. But, you know, Tod, you'd be suspected of anything, rather than tell something that might involve a friend, and —might after all involve him falsely."

The girl looked so earnest, so worried, and so sincere in her arguments, that Buck, though his heart gave a bound of delight at this tacit proof of her own innocence, realized it would be a hard job to persuade her to bear witness, which, as she said, might lead to incrimination of the wrong person.

"Well," he said, a little hopelessly, "if you keep mum, you'll make more trouble all around."

"I don't care. I mean, I can't help it. I didn't kill Myra,—"

"But you made up her face——"

"Oh, you horrible, dreadful thing! I'll never speak to you again! Go away. How can you say such an awful thing to me!"

Her eyes grew big with horror and she looked at Tod as if at some noisome reptile, and indeed, he felt as if he were one.

"I'm no good as a detective," he thought to himself, "I'm no good as an adviser or assistant to the girl I love;—in fact, I'm no good as a lover,—she doesn't seem to see me in that light. But I must get one more thing off my chest. I must find out whether she really said 'putty' last night, or some other word of similar sound."

So he rose to go away, then paused, and in a tone he tried to make casual, he said:

"What about the putty?"

He was both amazed and alarmed at the effect of this speech.

Bunny turned white, and her hands gripped the chair arms.

"How did you know?" she whispered, staring at him as one might at a suddenly materialized ogre.

Now, Tod had a strong inclination to say, "Oh, I know all about it," and thus probably find out a lot.

But the girl looked so helpless and pathetic, so shorn of all her bravado and jaunty independence, that it seemed to him unfair to deceive her.

Moreover, whatever the putty was or meant, it was quite evidently an important factor in the case, and he had no right to wrest the secret from her. If she chose to tell him, well and good. If not, he felt unwilling to force her hand.

"Do you know what I'm going to do, Bunny? I'm going to get a friend of mine, who's a first-rate detective, to come here and look into things."

"All right," she responded, but she spoke listlessly, as if she had all at once lost interest in the whole matter.

"You're willing?"

"Of course. Why not?"

"And, Bunny—darling, won't you smile at me—just once? At me, I mean, me, Tod Buck?"

Bunny smiled involuntarily, more at his whimsical pleading than in response to his plea.

"That's better," he said. "I suppose you wouldn't—wouldn't—er, let me kiss you."

Though not in gay spirits, she was calm and kindly, and in response to Mrs. Prentiss' solicitous urging, she ate a goodly amount of the dishes that had been prepared with special reference to her taste.

"No," she said in answer to a question, "no, I just can't go over to the funeral this afternoon. I don't like funerals anyway, and it would kill me to see poor Myra lying there in—in—and anyway, people go to funerals more out of respect for the family or the ones left living, don't they? Well, Perry Heath isn't there, and I don't see any reason I should go for Larry Inman's sake. Do you, Mrs. Prentiss?"

"No," said the lady, decidedly. "I see no call for you to go, Bunny, since you don't want to. It would be a harrowing experience, and it could do no good to anyone."

"And Mr. Mott would glare at me, and everybody would stare,—oh, I simply couldn't stand it!"

"Then you shan't go," said Toddy Buck, helping himself a second time to the souffle dessert. "You won't mind being left alone? For I think I ought to go, don't you, Aunt Em?"

"Yes, of course, Tod. As neighbors, it is our duty. But it won't be for long. You can look out the side windows, Bunny. Keep behind the net curtains and you can't be seen."

"You've got the technique down fine, Aunt Em," observed her nephew, "what you don't know about neighbor-watching isn't worth worrying over."

His aunt ignored his impertinence, and the subject was dropped.

"Old Steve Truitt is coming tonight," Buck informed them. "I telephoned him and he's all for it. Now, Bunny, while you're left alone this afternoon, you think things over, like a good girl, and when Truitt comes, you be prepared to tell him everything. You needn't tell us, if you don't want to, but Steve is a nice, comfy sort, and you just babble your heart out on his breast. Will you?"

"Maybe," said Bunny, disinterestedly, it would seem. "What's he like, Tod?"

"Pygmy as to size, but a big brain. Good looking, in a way, but no Adonis. Also, he's engaged, so don't expect to flirt with him."

"No," said Bunny, so docilely, that it was evident her thoughts were elsewhere.

That afternoon, later, she sat at the side window, behind the net curtains, as per Mrs. Prentiss' advice, and watched the people arriving at the house next door to pay their last respects to the memory of Myra Heath.

Bunny felt as one in a dream. Her thoughts were chaotic, and in vain she endeavored to range them in orderly array.

The excitement of the last few days left her mind and brain in a state of ferment, and she gave herself up now to watching the people, without trying to unravel and disentangle her own conclusions or intentions.

But after a time, the people had all arrived; nothing could be seen through the curtained windows next door, and Bunny knew that the services had begun.

Then the tears came. Emotion at the thought of beautiful Myra, dead,—murdered—caused a rush of sobbing grief, that while it racked poor Bunny's body, seemed to clear her mind. As she grew quieter, she found she saw things more clearly. She realized that of all the people in the Heath home, it was only Myra whom she loved, and whose terrible death she must help to avenge if by any possibility she could help.

She forced herself to go over the events of that terrible night. She made herself remember everything that had happened, or that she had reason to think happened. She closed her eyes, and for the first time since the tragedy, she thought coherently and deeply as to what she should do.

She was not sure who had killed Myra,—she could not be sure. Yet Perry Heath had insisted on seeing her to warn her of her own danger, and so—

But then, she had seen Larry—and, oh, good Heavens! Larry had said he saw her, he told Tod Buck that. Was Larry lying? Oh, had he seen her? Vanity case and all!

Perhaps after all the very best thing to do would be to tell the whole absolute and utter truth. Keep nothing back,—nothing.

She opened her eyes, and at once rubbed them hard, sitting up straight in her chair.

She blinked and winked a moment, and then decided her eyes were not playing a trick on her, but there really was a man sitting in a chair across the room, looking at her.

GOOD HEALTH NECESSARY

Many Busy Women Owe Their Health to Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Fifty years ago there were few occupations for women. Some taught school, some did housework, some found work to do at home and a few took up nursing.

Today there are very few occupations not open to women. Today they work in factories with hundreds of other women and girls. There are also women architects, lawyers, dentists, executives, and legislators. But all too often a woman wins her economic independence at the cost of her health.

Mrs. Elizabeth Chamberlain who works in the Unionall factory making overalls writes that she got "wonderful results" from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Mrs. Chamberlain lives at 500 Monmouth St., Trenton, N. J. She recommends the Vegetable Compound to her friends in the factory and will gladly answer any letters she gets from women asking about it.

If Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has helped other women, why shouldn't it help you?

RELIEF MEASURES TO USE FOR EARACHE

First Restore the Drainage From the Middle Ear by Reducing Nasal Congestion and Then Irrigate the Canal With Warm Water.

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.
United States Senator From New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

DR. ROYAL S. COPELAND

What do you do when you get the earache? You have to do something, because it is so painful you can't stand it.

Sometimes we get discouraged about the progress of the world. We get pessimistic, especially on Mondays, and think the world has gone to the bow-wow.

It hasn't gone to the bow-wows. We are making progress in every line. There is no field where this is more evident than in the field of medicine.

Lots of diseases which used to be common are hardly heard of any more. In my boyhood there was never a Summer when they didn't have typhoid fever and malaria in the town where I lived. They don't have them any more. The sanitarian have taught the people how to regard the water supply and the milk supply. Contaminated water and milk are not given to citizens of North America as they used to be.

The scientists have learned how to get rid of the mosquito. Marsh lands are drained, and by proper spraying mosquitoes are destroyed.

Diphtheria used to reap a tremendous harvest of victims. Croup took children away by the hundred. These diseases are comparatively rare today.

We don't hear so much about ear ache as we did. Specialists who have studied the nasal cavities and their relation to the middle ear have taught the profession that earache is the result of a neglected nasal condition. The trouble has been permitted to extend from the nose up the passageway to the ear.

Mothers are taught these days that a "cold in the head" must not be neglected. By giving it proper treatment in the beginning it disappears quickly and the unpleasant secondary conditions are avoided. For this reason earache is not nearly so common as it used to be.

In earache the first thing to do is to restore drainage by reducing the nasal congestion and the swelling of the passageway to the ear.

The ear itself may be irrigated. Warm water, hot as can be borne, is poured into the ear.

Please observe that I speak of pouring water into the canal. Force should be avoided. The fluid may be poured from a warm spoon or it may be applied from a fountain syringe placed near the level of the head.

In the country it is not uncommon to have tobacco smoke blown into the ear. It is the heat of the smoke that promotes the comfort. A piece of cotton may be placed in the bowl of a pipe and saturated with choloform. With the mouth over the bowl the vapor may be forced through the pipestem into the aching ear. Sometimes this gives great relief.

Of course if the pain persists the services of the doctor are required. It may be necessary to resort to more radical measures.

Live Poultry Market Is Lower This Week

The Chicago Butter market on 90 score Standards today is quoted at 40¾ cents as compared with 41 cents the same day a week ago. New York 92 score Extras are quoted at 46¾ to 47 cents today as compared with 46½ cents Monday a week ago.

The supply of butter on the larger markets showed some increase the latter part of last week which is a direct result of increase in milk production. The consuming demands has continued fairly good, but there has been some surplus stock accumulating which has resulted in an easier feeling of buyers.

The Chicago egg market on firsts today is quoted at 39½ to 41 cents, an advance of one cent per dozen during the past week, while New York firsts during the same period advanced approximately 3 cents. The markets have been fairly well supplied with fresh eggs, but the quality has been very irregular, with a comparatively small percentage showing up as new-laid stock. The demand for fresh receipts has been good, particularly on fancy quality.

Live poultry markets are easier and some adjustments have been made, quotations working to a lower level. Quotations on Chicago light fowls show a net decline of ½ cent and heavy fowls 1½ cents, as compared with a week ago. New York quotations on live fowls have remained practically unchanged, excepting on the light weigh stock. The demand in New York is for the larger grades, the lighter weights being sold at some discount, as compared with ruling quotations. There is a general easier tendency prevailing in the market on spring chickens. Quotations in Chicago declined 1 cent per lb. last week and New York 2 cents, for the same period. The supply has been heavy, and the buying demand on these larger markets is somewhat lacking.

Below are figures issued by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, giving the warehouse report on storage holdings of butter and eggs.

October 1, 1926, butter, 125,122,000 pounds; eggs, 8,035,000 cases; October 1, 1925, butter, 114,172,000 pounds; eggs, 8,612,000 cases; excess butter, 10,950,000 pounds; shortage eggs, 577,000 cases.

September 1, 1926, butter, 138,200,000 pounds; eggs, 9,563,000 cases; September 1, 1925, butter, 128,400,000 pounds; eggs, 9,863,000 cases; butter, excess, 9,800,000 pounds; eggs shortage, 300,000 cases.

It will be noticed the shortage of storage eggs September 1, 1926, 300,000 cases, had increased to 577,000 cases October 1.

Prison Official Says Crime in U. S. Is Less

Machinery To Combat Lawlessness Should Be Changed To Meet Modern Conditions, He Believes.

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 19.—The general volume of crime is on the downward trend in the United States in the opinion of Sanford Bates, commissioner of correction of Massachusetts. Bates, president of the American Prison Association, which is holding its annual convention here, also believes that the crime dealing machinery of the present day should be organized to meet the changing conditions of the modern life.

"The so-called crime wave has not increased in the last ten years," he said. "There are certain spectacular crimes, such as bank holdups, but the general volume is decreasing. There has been a diminution of vagrancy and drunkenness."

Change "Machinery."

"The problem confronting us today is to adapt the crime dealing machinery of the twentieth century to meet the changing conditions. During the last fifteen years the number of automobiles has increased many times and the revolver has widely circulated. This is no reason for the American public to become terrorized because there are a great number of law-abiding citizens.

The freedim granted the youth of today and the liberties allowed by new inventions were blamed in part by the Massachussets official for crime conditions.

"New inventions," he said, "are breeders of crime, but then we do not know what grandfather would have done with the latest inventions. Intelligence and discretion, with the American public keeping its feet on the ground, will aid in combating lawlessness."

Not So Bad Nowadays.

Comparing the criminal of the past and present, Bates said there were bold criminals in the United States today, "but none come up with Jesse James. The characters are different and methods today are dissimilar to those employed by old notorious criminals."

Various pulpits of Pittsburgh churches were occupied by members of the Prison Association at the morning services today. In the afternoon there was a meeting under the auspices of the Chaplains Association, services being held in memory of distinguished officers and members of the association who have passed away during the year.

Sentences of "so many dollars" instead of so many days, is advocated by William G. Shepherd, prison reform writer of New York, whose "prison wage plan," a revolutionary change in American prison administration, has been placed before the sixty-fifth annual congress.

CATTLE AND HOGS STEADY. LAMBS EASIER.

Kansas City Stock Yards, Oct. 18.—Cattle prices here held steady with trade active. There would have been a higher market but Chicago with 41,000, the largest supply this season, and 15,000 of the run of western origin, quoted a sharp decline. Of the local receipts only a small per cent was in killing flesh, the large part being stockers and feeders. Hog prices were fully steady with last week's close, though slightly lower than the high point last week. Lambs were in active demand at steady to 15 cents lower prices. Good fat western lambs were in moderate supply.

Today's Receipts.

Receipts today were 32,000 cattle, 7,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep, compared with 43,000 cattle, 8,000 hogs and 14,000 sheep a week ago, and 30,650 cattle, 4,300 hogs and 5,150 sheep a year ago.

Beef Cattle.

In proportion to total receipts of cattle fat grades were in moderate supply at steady prices. The market here would have ruled higher but the Chicago run of 41,000 cattle, with the big per cent in killing condition, prevented. Chicago will probably be depressed all week because of the heavy run. Here the best yearling offerings brought $10.75 to $11.25. They did not grade above good. Prime yearlings would have brought $11.75 to $12. Some medium and heavy weight steers sold at $10 to $11. Short fed steers brought $8.50 to $10, and grass fat steers $5.75 to $8.50. Indications are that grass fat cattle will be offered less freely from now on and short fed kinds will increase. Cows and heifers sold readily at strong prices. Receipts were moderate, and judging from the way the southwest is holding female cattle, the runs from now on will be small. Veal calves were fully steady with last weeks close, best light weights selling up to $13.

Stockers and Feeders.

Stockers and feeders were in liberal supply and trade remained active at firm prices. Last week 38,798 stockers and feeders were shipped back to the country and a similar supply will go out this week if they are available. Quality of the offerings is the best of the season.

Hogs.

Trade in hogs remains active with the price spread the narrowest of the season. Saturday there was a moderate decline, and today prices ruled steady and only 10 cents under last week's high point. The hog cholera situation in more eastern states has entailed a considerable loss in both pigs and fat hogs, and is acting as a strengthening influence in the fat hog market. Today 180 to 250 pound hogs sold at $13.25 to $13.50; 250 to 300 pound grades at $12.75 to $13.25; 140 to 170 pounds $12.50 to $13.15; packing sows $10 to $11 and stock hogs and pigs $13 to $13.75.

Sheep and Lambs.

Trade in sheep and lambs opened slowly but became active as soon as steady to 15 cents lower prices were established. Western lambs sold at $13.85 to $14; native lambs $12.50 to $13.50; yearlings $9.50 to $11; wethers $7.25 to $8.25; ewes $4.50 to $6.75 and feeding lambs $12 to $13.

Horses and Mules.

Demand for horses and mules was more active than ten days ago, and prices are stronger.

Closing Grain Review.

Chcago, Oct. 19.—Wheat scored a 2¼ cent advance on a similar rise in Liverpool and held most of the gain. The other grains on the Chicago Board of Trade today also closed well above yesterday's level.

Wheat was 1¼ to 1 3-8 up. Export business was placed at a half-million bushels. The fact that the market advanced 7½ cents over the low of last week caused many traders to be cautious and induced profit taking on extreme bulges. Cash prices were 1 to 1½ higher than yesterday.

Such bearish news as the husking of Iowa corn and the continued flow of old grain from the country was ignored in the corn pit. The grain registered an advence of from ½ to 7⅛ cents on the strength of wheat.

Oats was listless but closed 1-8 cent higher.

Provisions closed lower.
